

Advanced Skills for Permanent Recruiters

An interactive 1 day workshop designed to deliver face to face, either in house or via public workshops.

Who should attend: Consultants and management who want to learn how to sell retained business, client paid advertising and formalise client relationships

Outcome expected: Participants will understand the concept of service within the recruitment industry and identify where value can be added at little or no cost to the business. They will also understand the benefits of formalising strong relationships and know how to sell retained business as well as client paid advertising.
